Boating App

Boat Notes is a great app to use for boating safety. It gives safety tips for your specific type and size of vessel, pre-departure checklists, as well as marine regulations. Available for Android or iOS.

Throw Bag Lines

In the they found the lines in some throw bags were rotten. Hard to save someone with rotten lines! Therefore, be sure to check the lines in throw bags, as well as any safety equipment each year to be sure they are still in good condition.

Water Safety

Keep in mind the dangers of melting ice and moving water as the spring thaw begins. As the snow melts and water starts to flow, ice on creeks and near shore on the lake will thin and become unsafe to walk on. Enjoy the coming spring, but warn others about the dangers.

Booth Volunteers

We want to have NBPSS booths promoting Boat Safety at a few events this summer and need help. To volunteer, contact 705-980-0455. Or contact any of the Bridge for more info.

Squadron in Crisis!

Past Commodore, Anne Taylor states that NBPSS is officially a Squadron in crisis. We do not have the required positions filled on the Bridge (Executive Officer, Education Officer and Treasurer) as directed by CPS policies and regulations.

Members are needed to step up and volunteer to help NBPSS. Without members' support, we will not be able to maintain our Squadron to promote boating safety in our district.

How Much Do You Know?

Here are a couple more questions from Boating Exams. Answers are on page 4.

1. Safety calls are generally addressed to:
 - a) The Coast Guard
 - b) All Stations
 - c) A specific station
 - d) The nearest Search and Rescue station.

2. When it is necessary to spell out words, the phonetic word used for the letter "K" is:
 - a) King
 - b) Kilo
 - c) Key
 - d) Kiss

Man Overboard

Here is a great article about a man overboard that took place during a sail race recently. David Schmidt, Editor of Sail-World.com was in a race on Puget Sound and heard a man overboard from another boat. The article details what happened and steps taken to retrieve the sailor. While this is always something we all are concerned about, this was done while the sea was only 7° C (45° F). Fortunately the sailor was recovered quickly and efficiently.

However, this is a good reminder to practice MOB, especially in foul weather. Your ability to be calm, methodical and efficient may save a life. If crew goes over, do you know what to do? Show and Tell

HMS Victory at Portsmouth Historic Boatyard, England

This month, Jill Faulkner has highlights of a trip to England. Dan and I went to London, England a couple of years ago in October to visit our friend, Andrew Burke-Smith. Andrew is a member of the Royal Yachting Association, the equivalent of CPS in England. He goes to his cottage on the French River every summer.

We did the tourist thing in London, but also made a weekend trip to Portsmouth in the south of England to visit HMS Victory. She was launched in 1765 and is best known as Admiral Lord Nelson's flagship. He was killed onboard HMS Victory at the Battle of Trafalgar, on October 21, 1805. Now in dry dock, Victory has been restored and you can tour the ship via audio stations that outline life aboard an 1800's naval warship along with stories of the Battle of Trafalgar. Word of warning - if you are claustrophobic, the lower levels are small and crowded and even I had to crouch down to get around!

Following are some photos I took on board HMS Victory. As well, here is a video from Youtube showing a tour of the ship

Go Green For 2019

A new initiative is underway in the United Kingdom to encourage all boaters to be more environmentally responsible. It's a great reminder for all of us to follow.

1. Reduce energy consumption - be aware of how much fuel you're using (operate your vessel at its most efficient point)
2. Stop the spill - take care to avoid spills during refuelling
3. Recycle - recycle as much waste on board as possible
4. Ditch the disposables - stamp out single use plastics and buy products with less packaging
5. Take care with antifouling - When carrying out anti-fouling work, always take care to prevent anti-fouling going into the water
6. Clean with care - always choose environmentally friendly cleaning products
7. Think about garbage - remove as much excess packaging as possible; prevent plastic bags, cans and loose items from blowing overboard
8. Help take care of the beach - participate in a local beach clean-up

NBPSS History

I will be adding photos from NBPSS history from time to time. Thanks to Ivan Gough, our Squadron Historian, for keeping our a record of our history. And thanks to Doug and Sandra Hay for providing digital images from the 50th Anniversary.

Harry Hickson was one of the founding members of North Bay Power Squadron. As the first Commander from 1961-62, he also went on to be the District Commander in 1965-66.
